| Course Adaptation and Design Institute (CADI) | $500                                     | • Canvas Guide pre-requisite to CADI
• One day (~8 hours), synchronous training, hybrid option
• Offered throughout the year; can be taken while on contract or off contract; same stipend rate regardless of when it is taken | • One-time requirement for faculty (re)designing a course(s)
• The honorary stipend will be distributed as part of the payroll and appear as a "stipend" on a pay stub.
• OPE and other deductions will not be removed from the honorary stipend, except for mandatory deductions such as FICA.
• Faculty will receive the honorary stipend after they have submitted the course to CIM.  |
| *Ecampus – Developing an Online Course (DOC)  | $500                                     | • Six-week, fully asynchronous training | • DOC and ROC must only be taken once. Faculty who have previously completed DOC but not ROC and are coming back to redevelop a course will take ROC. Faculty who have completed both DOC and ROC previously will not have any additional Ecampus-specific training requirements for course development.
• Successful completion of DOC prompts a $500 unit-to-unit transfer; Successful completion of ROC prompts a $350 unit-to-unit transfer
• Funds go to a department index, and faculty should check with their department about how they can be accessed and used.  |
| *Ecampus – Redeveloping an Online Course (ROC) | $350                                     | • Four-week, fully asynchronous training |                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Teaching in Core Education (TCE) - similar content to Canvas Guide | Not applicable  | • ~2 hours, asynchronous | • Required for everyone who teaches a Core Education Course – if faculty have attended CADI, they will already have completed the TCE
• Considered as part of job duties and can be completed as part of daily work  |
